

BETA-READING REPORT

The manuscript has strong atmospheric horror.

The house feels like more than a location, which is essential for this type of story.

Strong Points

- Excellent setting.
- Effective use of sound.
- Strong family history.
- Good supernatural mystery.
- Chapter ending creates immediate curiosity.

Suggested Improvements

The grandmother should have a larger presence through memories.

Daniel's childhood experiences in the house could become important later.

Consider giving the house specific rules.

For example:

- Certain rooms cannot be entered after midnight.
- Certain objects should never be moved.
- The house reacts to people who lie.

This would make the supernatural elements feel consistent rather than random.
